

Our Native Garden Nursery October NEWS

The weather here has been so weird, raining non-stop, it even flooded at Sumsion gardens. Our plants loved the weather, the volunteers not so much.

The rainy weather brought new residents to the nursery: Bluey the Blue-tongue Lizard and Kermit the frog. About a week or two later we also spotted three beautiful healthy skinks. We are so proud that we are bringing the right environment to support and home these native Australian animals even though magpies and other birds steal our name tags on the plants. All of our volunteers are pleased that we have a good team and a good place of work that is enjoyable.

Our Spring Celebration all about native plants went smoothly and we had a lot of interest from people. Many plants were 're-homed' and we talked about how they improve our environment.

FREE Plants

You have done a wonderful job of moving our excess plants out into homes of their own in the ground thank you! We have still got some FREE give aways Sticky Hop Bush- Right photo- and River Red Gum left photo - come and get them now or we will have to throw them out!

It has been rather tricky but we now have our new organisation Our Native Garden Nursery Inc approved by Victorian Government. Over the next year we will gradually swap over to this organisation and plan to make it into a Tax Deductible Gift type charity. Then we will wind up the old company structure.

Next Committee meeting of Our Native Garden Nursery is Monday 7 November at 1.30pm at the nursery. All are most welcome. Please reply to this email for me to send you our monthly report and meeting Agenda. If it suits you better you can participate electronically – email or phone us your input.
